

DAILY SENTINEL.

FRIDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 27.

JOB PRINTING.

Books, Pamphlets, Circulars, Blanks, Bill Heads, Cards, Bills Lading, Checks, Ac. Ac. Ac. Done promptly at this Office, in the best style, on first quality paper, and at low prices. Give us a call.

CITY ITEMS.

In the Common Pleas Court, the usual amount of civil business is being transacted.

Wood has been more plenty in the market for the last few days. The farmers now have time to bring it in.

The Fifteenth Indiana Cavalry Regiment has been ordered to Vincennes to be mustered out, and will soon be on its way home.

The editor of the Evening Gazette says, speaking of and for himself, "we need praying for." All acquainted with the statement will say amen to that.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—A German painter named Deppa, while at work in Schmidt's brewery, yesterday, in the southern part of the city, fell through the hatchway, breaking his left arm.

In the Police Court, yesterday, there were but five cases; three for drunkenness—two of them being soldiers—and the third sent up, and a case of carrying concealed weapons, and hitting to lamp posts.

According to the Journal's theology, a nigger has a right of boot, and the white man who complains against the nigger for stealing the boot should be sent to the penitentiary. Such is the colored man's friend's idea of justice.

The Daily Telegraph, the new German paper in this city, has reached a daily circulation of 1,500, paying subscribers, and is rapidly increasing. Our young friend Metzger is making a paper that is very well received by his German readers.

The Committee of the Council appointed to examine the boudoiring of Circles, will meet this afternoon at the City Hall, with the Commissioner, to make a personal examination of the matter, and see if the contract has been filled. Property owners, and others interested, should be present.

CIRCUIT COURT.—In the Circuit Court, yesterday, Howard Wilkie, on trial for stealing a pair of boots, was acquitted.

The Court passed sentence on five men previously convicted.

In the case of Moore vs. Walpole, involving the title to certain real estate, and which was tried at the last term, the Court granted a new trial.

Government securities are declining in the market. Those who invested in them as a source of revenue already are beginning to regret their mistake, as they cannot realize in the market, interest added, as much as their face calls for. They were worth in the banks of this city yesterday ninety cents on the dollar, and their mistake, as they cannot realize in the market, interest added, as much as their face calls for. They were worth in the banks of this city yesterday ninety cents on the dollar, and their mistake, as they cannot realize in the market, interest added, as much as their face calls for.

The rain has set in. The many ladies are congratulating themselves on having plenty of rain water, and the boot-blacks are having plenty of work in their line, while the young ladies—the industrious young ladies, that love to well to spin their yarn—are waiting about the spoked gatters and dirty skirts that mud and rain always bring. We have had a pleasant summer and fall—the first of November is nearly here, and we must expect rain and cold and disagreeable weather from this out.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—The following marriage licenses were issued by the County Clerk for the week ending October 26, 1865:

Christian L. Neiger and Margaret Abblan.

Robert Butler and Jane King.

James Monroe and Elizabeth C. Ribbell.

Charles Stanley and Mabel Jane Stiner.

James H. Bliven and Mrs. Elizabeth Hays.

Henry Lively and Elizabeth A. Cox.

Uriah J. Fox and Nancy Coffman.

Andrew J. Wells and Anna C. Dunham.

Andrew J. Kramer and Miss Alda.

William Brub and Sophia Funkmeyer.

John Windman and Christina Dietz.

Nathan K. Hendricks and Merinda R. Purcell.

Newton Pollard and Sarah C. Myers.

Daniel H. Hunt and Anna M. Lockwood.

George D. Cummins and Mrs. Lucy Adams.

Oscar Reid and Sarah York.

William Mosman and Mrs. Anna Shafer.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Sunday Mercury gives the following item of the real estate speculation of John D. Deffen, Superintendent of Government Printing, at Washington. We suspect that some of our citizens will be glad to learn that John has so much money lying round loose:

A Goss.—There is a good joke here how Deffen was lately taken by purchasing real property at less than its value. The property was sold for taxes, and purchased for a very small sum. Deffen having the money on hand, and plenty of it, he decided to invest a trifle for his bargain. He was to attend to the usual matters connected with the sale of such property, and to get a title to the same, but, being engaged by the lucrative business of purchasing paper in the "open market," and other "money-making matters," he neglected the payment of the taxes, and that of procuring a good title. Somebody gave this information to the "marriage" when the real estate was sold, and his lawyer, "walled a mace," as once searched the books, finds the taxes unpaid, pays the same, and at once restores the property to its lawful owner, and leaves "honest John" minus his investment of a mere trifle, as he has thousands at his command.

LAST OF THE TENT SHOWS.—Van Amburgh & Co.'s Menagerie performed in Indianapolis yesterday, and, considering the lateness of the season for pavilion exhibits, it was well patronized. Our city has had its full share of traveling circuses and menageries this season. First, the "Hippolydian," William Lake Manager; next in order was the "Great Union Combination Circus and Menagerie," W. H. Hough Manager; then comes the "European Circus," L. P. Howe Manager, and close on the heels of this was the irrepressible "Dan Rice Menagerie," Dan Rice Manager, soon after which the "Union Combination," again paid us a visit; then came the "Equestrian Circus," under the management of L. B. Lott, and yesterday the "Van Amburgh Show."

All of these exhibitions have been liberally patronized by our citizens, and each party left with a large surplus of greenbacks—the "Great Union Combination" carrying off, next to Van Amburgh's exhibition, "the lion's share," for no better show, and no more energetic and gentlemanly business manager than Mr. Hough ever traveled in this section of the country—a gentleman by nature, a printer by profession, and a showman by adoption, he proved himself to be the "right man in the right place"—at least of the Union show—and the proprietors owe their great success to his indomitable perseverance.

TRANSFERS OF REAL ESTATE.—The following transfers of real estate have been made at the Auditor's Office since our last report:

Samuel Junkin to Ben Baughn, lot No. 13, in out-lot No. 10—$1,500.

James H. Potter to Samuel C. Vance, lot No. 70, in out-lot No. 10—$1,345.

Jacob T. Wright to Nathaniel Teal, lot No. 49, in out-lot No. 10—$1,500.

T. R. Fletcher to Marian Scholz, 41 by 150 feet of out-lot No. 52—$4,200.

J. P. Chapman to A. M. Matthews, 41 feet of lot No. 8, in square No. 40—$5,000.

Wm. Franklin to Charles N. Todd, et al., the Telegraphic Dispatches.

REPORTED BY THE TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES.

MIDNIGHT REPORT.

THE ENGLISH DIFFICULTY.

JUAREZ AT EL PASO.

GEORGIA STATE CONVENTION.

INTERCESSION FOR C. C. CLAY.

THE NEW FENIAN BONDS.

OPPOSITION TO SECY McCULLOCH.

THE NEW YORK PAPERS ON THE ADAMS-RUSSELL CLAIM.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—All the morning papers comment on the Adams-Russell claim against England for the damages inflicted by the Anglo-Rebel pirates.

The Tribune, after stating the question, says: Should England ever be involved in a serious foreign war before her difficulty with the United States is settled, it would probably not require much time to cause her to disown her present principles.

The Herald says: The trouble arises from the existing unsettled and undetermined international law. The Herald also urges a Congress of the great powers to settle certain principles which will perpetuate peace between the Old and New Worlds.

The Times, after alluding to Lord John Russell in rejecting arbitration, something which England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

Telegraphic Dispatches.

REPORTED BY THE TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES.

MIDNIGHT REPORT.

THE ENGLISH DIFFICULTY.

JUAREZ AT EL PASO.

GEORGIA STATE CONVENTION.

INTERCESSION FOR C. C. CLAY.

THE NEW FENIAN BONDS.

OPPOSITION TO SECY McCULLOCH.

THE NEW YORK PAPERS ON THE ADAMS-RUSSELL CLAIM.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—All the morning papers comment on the Adams-Russell claim against England for the damages inflicted by the Anglo-Rebel pirates.

The Tribune, after stating the question, says: Should England ever be involved in a serious foreign war before her difficulty with the United States is settled, it would probably not require much time to cause her to disown her present principles.

The Herald says: The trouble arises from the existing unsettled and undetermined international law. The Herald also urges a Congress of the great powers to settle certain principles which will perpetuate peace between the Old and New Worlds.

The Times, after alluding to Lord John Russell in rejecting arbitration, something which England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question is exhausted.

England would be angry or inconsistent with her position as a neutral in the Fenian movement, more than ever America has had regard to England's attitude towards the South, inasmuch as the Fenian movement is a direct result of American citizens, although the conspiracy may have been mostly of Irish extraction.

The Times, however, admits that the American Government has acted in regard to the movements of the Fenians, with, in considerable openness, notwithstanding the secret filibuster plots of its citizens.

The friends of the American Government will probably be satisfied.

The Daily News says: It is clear that the discussion of the question